Aschaffenburg is spot on!

Aschaffenburg is a city of castles, parks and museums, which King Ludwig I was extremely fond of and used to call it his "Bavarian Nice". It boasts a beautiful old town centre and a dynamic mix of history and modernity which combines local tradition with a charming atmosphere. Aschaffenburg has become the focal point of the Bavarian part of the "Frankfurt-RheinMain" area, within easy reach of the buzzing city centre of Frankfurt, the financial Capital of Europe. Munich is just 2.5 h and Berlin or Hamburg are just 4h away by train.
